Three Days Of Hearings

Laird Sees Missile Okay Despite Sharp Questioning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has emerged from Senate grilling with the image of a cool, dogged performer and an unshaken conviction he can win the White House case for a revised missile defense system.

But the question of who—if anyone—came out ahead in the administration's first Capitol Hill presentation of arguments for a Safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM) system remains to be seen.

Laird wound up three days of testimony Friday with a 5½-hour nationally televised appearance before the Senate disarmament subcommittee, a focal point of Senate ABM opposition.

As expected, the criticism came fast and sharp, accompanied by cheers for the senators and laughter for Laird from the largely student audience that crowded into the cavernous Senate caucus room.

"Far less of a shield than a sieve," said Democrat Frank Church of Idaho of the $7-billion system President Nixon wants to deploy at 12 sites to protect the nation's deterrent missile and bomber force.

"Not a convincing case," said Chairman Albert Gore, D-Tenn. "Every witness outside the Pentagon knows it's not much good," said Arkansas' J. W.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"Cockeyed," was the comment Democrat Stuart Symington of Missouri had for a chart Laird showed.

It was the only chart of several that Laird got to show, although he kept trying throughout the day to have his deputy, David Packard, give the same visual-aid rundown that had gone over so well Wednesday and Thursday with the far friendlier Armed Services Committee.

"There are a few things we want to get to first," said Laird, the defense chief. But they never did get around to the charts and Gore said Packard could come before the committee with them next Wednesday.

Through it all, Laird smiled often, answering with methodical, well-formed sentences that struck a balance between the metallic, statistic-filled testimony of former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and the dogged repetition of policy that still another point.

The Safeguard, he added, "is not an escalation of the arms race."

Although outwardly cool, Laird did remark that as a former congressman, he recalled it was easier to ask questions than to answer them.

After the administration's first face-to-face confrontation with Safeguard critics in the Senate, there was no immediate evidence either side gained any converts.

Winner? That's Question In Reported College Pact

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A disputed agreement has supposedly ended a violent and bitter four-month student strike at San Francisco State College, but it has left several questions unanswered.

Who won? Are the college's troubles really over?

Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, acting president, hailed the agreement Friday in a long statement but said he would not get into the question of who won. Gov. Ronald Reagan called it a "victory for the people of California."

Hayakawa, 62, a Japanese-American semanticist who took over Nov. 26, said terms of the agreement, worked out by a select committee at his behest, were not final and were merely recommendations to him. He had not signed it, and an aide said "he doesn't plan to."

On the agreement's proposals for amnesty, Hayakawa said he wanted to wait until April 11 and see if strikers and their supporters behave. The 16,000-student campus will be closed for Easter March 29 to April 6.

"I had a meeting with them March 11," Hayakawa said later.

Laird Tells Of 'Private' Viet Talks

Says White House Has 'Alternative' To Current Course

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has confirmed the existence of private negotiations to end the Vietnam war and said if all talks fail the administration has an "alternative" to current policies.

Laird's disclosures came as a surprise when the subject of Vietnam was raised briefly Friday during a Senate disarmament subcommittee hearing on missile defense.

To a question from Democrat J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, Laird said the administration is seeking peace "not only through formal diplomatic channels formally in Paris, but privately as well."

He did not elaborate.

There were published reports earlier this week that private talks may be going on in Vientiane, the capital of Laos. But Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. negotiator in Paris, said he did not know about them.

The mention of an alternative to present policy came up in this exchange between Fulbright and Laird:

"Isn't it possible, Mr. Secretary, to realize that we are not now and never have been winning this war?" Fulbright asked. "If this administration continues and escalates this war in Vietnam, it will soon be Mr. Nixon's war."

"I want you to know," said Laird, "that we are hopeful that we will be successful in the talks . . . but if we are not successful, and we pray for success, I can assure you that we will have an alternative as far as the war is concerned other than the present conduct of that war."

He would not, despite Fulbright's urging, spell out the alternative.

Meanwhile, House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford predicted that there would be a new "military move" in Vietnam if talks fail. He said he thought there would be either a settlement or military action different from that of peast.

Laird and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, flatly denied Fulbright's contention that there has been escalation of the ground war in South Vietnam since the bombing of North Vietnam was ended Nov. 1.

The broadcast quoted official sources as saying antisocial elements were taking advantage of nationwide political unrest to indulge in arson, looting and other lawless activities.

Police patrols have been stepped up in Dacca City and troops are standing by, the radio said. It added that 45 armed persons have been arrested in connection with the disorders.

The Dacca deputy commissioner warned that the government would take firm action against lawbreakers.

President Mohammed Ayub Khan has appointed Mirza Huda Parvez to replace Abdul Monen Khan, who had been the target of strong criticism by students and workers.

Pakistan City Hit By Mob Violence

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — At least 39 persons have been killed in the past two weeks as a result of mob violence in the East Pakistani capital of Dacca, Radio Pakistan announced today.

Engineers To Seek Solution In Anguilla

ANGUILLA (AP) — Royal engineers are on their way to Anguilla to replace Britain's sunburned Red Devils and try to save face for the Union Jack.

The Defense Ministry announced Friday night an advance party of engineers would arrive today to decide what projects might best serve the tiny Caribbean island's 6,000 inhabitants and perhaps quell the mockery raised by Britain's Bay of Pigs invasion there Wednesday.

Representatives of the schools' teachers association told the board Friday night during a meeting that the professional day is scheduled and that the instructors do not intend to teach.

William Oliver of Steubenville, field consultant for the Ohio Education Association, said a ballot taken during a meeting of the district's teachers Thursday afternoon indicated teacher support of the association's executive committee which recommended that the teachers either be reinstated or action be taken by the instructors.

Oliver added that all but four ballots affirmed that teachers should not work on Monday if the matter is not resolved by then.

Oliver said he believes that

Carl Durham, Butler District constable, said the two, 17 and 18, had been hired by the 84 Lumber Co. of Vanport to distribute the circulars.

Durham said the advertisements were placed on cars in parking lots at the Homer Laughlin China Co. and on vehicles parked on adjoining streets.

Durham said he will prosecute anyone who attempts that sort of thing in Newell.

New Vietnam Mood Emerging

Congress is showing signs of growing impatience with the Nixon administration's effort to end the fighting in Vietnam.

Congressional doves Sens. J. W. Fulbright and George S. McGovern, long-time war opponents, spoke out recently. Their scathing criticism was not unexpected.

The real tipoff to the congressional mood was a low-key position switch by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield.

Sen. Mansfield's call for increased presidential efforts to end the fighting was triggered by a report from Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird that the United States is planning for two more years of war.

The somber projection by Mr. Laird brought forth this from Sen. Mansfield: "If that is so, it calls for greater, more concentrated and more private efforts at Paris to bring this war to an end."

Prior to Wednesday's testimony from Mr. Laird, Sen. Mansfield had attempted to restrain outspoken critics of the President in order to give the administration time to establish its policies.

Although Sen. Mansfield's departure from his "keep-quiet" policy was polite and proper, it nevertheless could be interpreted as a signal that increasing congressional pressure will be brought to bear on President Nixon.

Figures released yesterday show that 33,063 Americans have died in the Vietnam War — 10,112 since the Paris talks began 10 months ago.

If the current death rate continues, the total will surpass the Korean War's toll of 33,629 by the end of the month.

Looking down that endless corridor of death for American servicemen apparently is getting to some members of Congress. They join their constituents in wanting President Nixon to make a Vietnam settlement his personal top-priority project as he indicated he would in campaign speeches.

Boulevard Treatment Needed

Willingness of some Maine Blvd. property owners to consider a full-scale improvement of the street leading to the new school complex is encouraging to those who recognize the real role of this thoroughfare in the city's traffic pattern.

The present dirt road has become an important link between the community and its high school, between the North Side and downtown.

For efficient traffic flow, for pedestrian protection, for proper maintenance and enduring wear, the proposed improvement should call for a full 28-foot width or more with curbs and sidewalks and proper drain, and if possible, the surface should be of concrete.

As a prime traffic artery, Maine Blvd. will be carrying many visitors to the schools and by next year will have additional traffic to the new housing development. Investment in the project, recognizing this new role of the street, should be adequate to future needs; it would be pennywise and pound foolish to settle for a cheap job now and have to widen and resurface and provide drainage in ten years.

Private property owners must share the costs for they will share the benefits, but not to the extent that the city or the schools are not meeting their full obligation, considering the street will be put to great use by residents and students from throughout the city.

Maine Blvd. is not an alley or a secondary street; it deserves boulevard treatment.

An Awakening In Africa

One of the most thought-provoking tidbits from Zambia.

Independence was granted the former British territory of Northern Rhodesia in 1964. Africanization began immediately.

Jobs formerly held by whites were given to blacks without regard to ability or training.

THIS WEEK, Zambia's Labor Minister Lewis Changufu startled parliament by issuing a call for a drastic slowdown in efforts to replace foreigners with Zambians.

Mr. Changufu let lawmakers in on a cold, hard fact of life: "So far the program has done Zambia more harm than good."

The blunt statement by the labor official was doubly shocking because the debate had opened with a charge by one member that Zambianization was not moving fast enough.

He suggested Zambians be moved into all top positions in the country's vital copper-production industry.

Mr. Changufu said no. He then backed up his argument by citing what has taken place in the mining industry and in transportation which were both early targets of Zambianization.

From one of the world's lowest cost copper producers in 1963, Zambia has become one of the highest. The upswing spurted from a 50 per cent hike in labor costs.

INEFFICIENT OPERATIONS and drunkenness have left railroad schedules and safety regulations in disarray.

One cabinet member observed that if top jobs in the mines went to Zambians for the sake of expediency "we may as well close our mines."

Zambia is living proof that the way to get ahead in the world is to work together in the interest of the individual and the nation and share the rewards without worrying so much about the color of a man's skin.

Sharing The Blame

If a Chicago grand jury's opinion means anything, blame for violence during last summer's Democratic National Convention is to be shared by blacks and whites.

The grand jury has indicted eight policemen and eight demonstrators on charges stemming from violence during the week of Aug. 26.

Demonstrators were charged with conspiring with the intent to incite acts of violence which is a violation of the antiriot provision of the 1968 Civil Rights Act.

Seven of the policemen were charged with depriving individuals of their civil rights during the demonstrations. They are accused of assaulting six persons including three newsmen. The eighth officer has been charged with perjury in connection with testimony given before the grand jury.

Thomas A. Foran, U.S. attorney, reported at a news conference that additional indictments are expected.

Controversy over who did what to whom during demonstrations was instantaneous. It has not yet fully subsided.

Some of the demonstrators unquestionably sought a confrontation. Some of the policemen overreacted.

The grand jury is saying simply that those who were out of line on both sides must suffer the consequences.

FOR MR. REUTHER, this visit is a most unusual gesture of reconciliation. He is virtually a total political man. His followers will take sharp note of his action. To him and to them this is no mere visit. He did not come to dine at some formal state function. He came to a man's home on a Sunday morning for prayers and a sermon.

This will not, of course, shake the faith of Mr. Reuther's bearded colleague, West Coast UAW regional chief Paul Schrade, now building a new Democratic party coalition which hopes Edward Kennedy will lead it to the presidency once again. Nor will Mr. Reuther's even slight sign of empathy for Mr. Nixon deter those many auto union officials who will not shed their loyalty and devotion to Hubert Humphrey.

But the invitation to Mr. Reuther to come and sit with cabinet members as well as scrub women, chauffeurs as well as Gridiron Club officials, as a representative of labor during Rev. Evans' discourse on ethics and morality, is not being overlooked in knowledgeable political circles.

A strange phenomenon is developing in Republican ranks. Slowly Richard Nixon is developing influence and acceptance in labor ranks on levels and in relationships not easily discernible to the public. This comes from far more than formal dialogues with labor men. It springs, for example, in part from a willingness to accept some union chiefs as intimately (and friendly) as he does his fellow Republicans.

The Rhodes administration and ever-increasing number of Ohioans are trying to bring technical vocational education up to the level it deserves.

More money is being channeled into technical-vocational programs and technical institutes will be constructed on grounds shared with regular university branch buildings.

The goal is to treat technical-vocational training as an equal partner in our education system and obliterate the "second-class-citizen" impression that has been established through the years.

And if Mr. Bettelheim is right that offering a satisfying program to all our students will help curb campus unrest, so much the better.

That New Grand Old Party

WASHINGTON — Men are of many kinds politically, philosophically and religiously. And Richard Nixon believes their differences should not prevent their praying together. In this spirit, the President invited the iconoclastic Walter Reuther to worship services in the White House East Room last Sunday.

Victor Riesel

In view of Mr. Nixon's recent forgiving and recent eclecticism, this surprised a few friends of the President but did not startle them. Mr. Nixon has of late been more consensus conscious than even his predecessor.

But what did surprise those who know the militant auto union leader was that he came. He listened. He sat with other worshippers, not too many chairs from Gen. Westmoreland and university president Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, as the Rev. Louis H. Evans Jr. of the La Jolla (Calif.) Presbyterian Church conducted the services that morning.

Those who know Walter Reuther well were doubly startled. For they know the auto union leader as an agnostic "with sympathies," if I can steal a line from Somerset Maugham.

But come he did. And worship he did, in the home of the man whom he has fought so bitterly for so many years.

Thomas A. Foran, U.S. attorney, reported at a news conference that additional indictments are expected.

Controversy over who did what to whom during demonstrations was instantaneous. It has not yet fully subsided.

The Larger Question

WASHINGTON — Out of the 33,000 American troops who have died since the beginning of the Vietnam War, more than 20,000 were killed since the "peace" talks started at Paris last May, and at least 65,000 were wounded during the same 10 months.

Communist casualties have been heavy, too. But human life is wasted without much concern by the North Vietnamese, who are confident that eventually the United States will withdraw from the contest and leave the whole region open to domination by the government of Hanoi.

But what could this mean to the future of American foreign policy around the globe? Thus far, President Nixon has shown no signs of weakening from the position previously taken by the United States.

LAST FRIDAY he told a televised news conference that, in view of the current offensive by the North Vietnamese that there is no prospect for a reduction of American forces in the foreseeable future.

Likewise, Defense Secretary Laird says his military chiefs are convinced that U.S. troops cannot be withdrawn until Hanoi pulls all its forces out of South Vietnam.

But if the Hanoi government did order its forces to go back north as a device, this doesn't mean that the aggression could not be immediately resumed as soon as American troops have returned home.

What is being left unanswered is the larger question of how to deal with Russian participation in the Vietnam War through financial aid and the supply of arms. Mr. Laird told the Senate Armed Services Committee Wednesday, after his trip to Vietnam, that the enemy can repeat its offensives intermittently. He added:

"This continued capability on the part of the enemy derives from certain intractable factors in the Vietnamese situation. The forces of Hanoi and the NLF (Viet Cong) continue to be supplied with sophisticated equipment and weapons such as 122 millimeter rockets from Soviet and Chinese Communist resources.

"In addition, the enemy forces are able to take refuge in sanctuaries across the borders of Laos, Cambodia and North Vietnam. The Laotian and Cambodian sanctuaries are of great importance in the enemy's ability to withstand our overwhelming superiority in mobility and fire power.

Moreover, Cambodia has become increasingly important in the infiltration of supplies and men and in the command and control of the enemy forces."

This is an official description of what the United States is up against in Southeast Asia. Under the circumstances, the natural course for President Nixon to pursue is to find out whether the Russians intend to maintain their hostile role toward this country.

For what confidence or trust can the American people have in talks to limit armament if the Moscow government, at the same time, keeps on helping North Vietnam to fight against our troops?

This country has powerful Air Force which can bomb all enemy bases and transportation routes, and a Navy which can blockade the port of Haiphong and prevent delivery by sea of shipments to our adversaries.

Mr. Nixon has promised an "appropriate response" to the offensives by the North Vietnamese, especially since these seem to indicate clearly there is no intention to reciprocate in any way to America's bombing halt which began last autumn.

IF THE PRESIDENT lets the situation drift along while American casualties steadily increase and the North Vietnamese get more and more help from the Russians and the Red Chinese, the risks to the United States will be multiplied.

On every continent there will be a feeling, particularly among the weaker governments, that the United States will not be of much help to them and they had better join the Communist side.

Mr. Nixon has been hopeful that the Soviets would enter a new era of conciliation and that many world problems could be resolved by diplomatic talks and perhaps summit conferences.

But will the President be negotiating from a position of strength or weakness? What happens in Vietnam can be a turning point in world history.

New Probation Numbers Game

an adequate number of probation officers should be an integral part of the state's criminal rehabilitation plan.

Adoption of an indiscriminate probation policy tied to a flat 25 per cent confinement figure just doesn't make sense.

More Evidence

Further evidence that Ohio is on the right track in developing vocational-technical education has surfaced in a Washington hearing into student unrest.

Testifying before a House education subcommittee, psychologist Bruno Bettelheim said the American goal of a college education for everyone is a prime factor in widespread disorders.

The University of Chicago professor and author said frankly that too many students go to college who have no business there.

He suggested high school graduates strive for maturity in programs like the Peace Corps before going to college or enrolling in vocational courses.

The Rhodes administration and ever-increasing number of Ohioans are trying to bring technical vocational education up to the level it deserves.

More money is being channeled into technical-vocational programs and technical institutes will be constructed on grounds shared with regular university branch buildings.

That New Grand Old Party

perhaps more so) as did Lyndon Johnson.

RACING PARALLEL with this phenomenon is the developing coolness between some militant leaders and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller — a mighty stubborn man when he believes himself to be on a principled course.

And not too many have paid much heed to the course he's now taking — one which might have been expected of a preelection Richard Nixon.

Gov. Rockefeller believes there comes a point where you can't spend money you haven't got.

So in New York he's seeking to cut the behemoth budget by 5 per cent while raising the sales tax. After all the arithmetic is done, the state will still be short some $280 million.

Mr. Rockefeller has decided that the cuts must — among other items — be made in welfare and medicaid.

THERE WILL BE some trimming of the educational budget. But some cities, such as New York, still will get more than they did last year.

In addition, "Rocky" has pushed through a revised anti-public strike (Taylor) law. The growling in labor circles hasn't been a mere chorus of statements in public. There have been some furious confrontations. But Mr. Rockefeller doesn't budge when he believes he's right. Nor does he take pressure from his friends in or out of labor — not even from those he has hosted at cocktail parties in public halls or at private dinners under his surreal art.

So Gov. Rockefeller slowly is losing some of his militant friends inside labor. Some simply are screaming. Some simply are drifting away. Some simply seek other alliances. Some, including those Mr. Rockefeller befriended during last year's strenuous 9-day garbage strike, are shifting to their old antagonist, Mayor John V. Lindsay, as he starts running for reelection.

It's fascinating to watch the remaking of images in the new Grand Old Party. And it's just the beginning.

Salvation Army Event Set

MRS. MAJ. EDWARD V. DIMOND, accordionist, and Paul Voland, on the tenor guitar are members of the combo which will play during the Salvation Army civic meeting March 25 at the Citadel.

Maj. Edward Dimond, director of the Harbor Light Center in Cleveland, will be guest speaker during the annual civic meeting of the Salvation Army March 25 at 6:30 p.m. at the Citadel.

The work at the Cleveland center is concerned primarily with the rehabilitation of alcoholics.

Maj. Dimond is the son and grandson of Salvation Army officers.

Music is but one phase of the center program. There are classes and hobby groups nightly in addition to evangelistic services.

Among the combo members is Paul Voland, 56, a former disc jockey and singer for Youngstown and Pittsburgh radio stations. He plays the guitar and sings.

Anniversary-Homecoming

Second Church Of Christ Sets Special Observance

The Second Church of Christ on Pennsylvania Ave. is completing plans for an anniversary homecoming observance April 13, with former ministers and members to participate in an all-day program.

The event will mark the 10th anniversary of the Junior Church program, sixth anniversary of the Women's Fellowship and fifth anniversary of the Christian Education Fund. The fund makes it possible for youth of the church to attend schools of higher learning.

The Sunday night revival meetings at 7:30 will continue through March 30. The Rev. Albert E. Thomas reports record attendances. The goal was $25 for the seven-night series. During the first five nights the attendance has been 772, he said.

Plans are being outlined for an Easter sunrise service April 6 at 6. The choir will present a cantata during the evening services, with the public invited.

Missionaries Will Take Part In Glendale Church Services

The Rev. and Mrs. Jay E. Hunton, missionaries to Zambia, Central Africa, will be guests at the Glendale Church of the Nazarene Sunday at 7 p.m.

Nixons Pay Visit To West Coast

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon is spending the weekend in Southern California where he's thinking about buying a home and building a library to house his official papers.

The President and Mrs. Nixon, who flew here Friday, are quartered in a borrowed mansion high on a cliff overlooking the Pacific Ocean. Although aides said he had no plans to buy this particular house, they would not rule out the possibility.

The chief executive, already known to be seeking a summer White House in Southern California, also is considering selection of a site in the same general area for a library to house his presidential and vice-presidential papers.

The President was expected to issue late today a statement outlining his views on college campus disorders.

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord,
all the earth; break forth and sing for joy, yea, sing praises" Ps. 98:4

East Liverpool Churches readily prove that music is a means of extending Christian education and not merely an appendage to worship.

A record 491 years of singing has been compiled by a group of 11 city people, some of whom have been participating in choir work since belonging to early intermediate and junior groups.

The dean of choristers is J. Wilbur Newman of 608 Pond St., who has been singing in the choir of the First Presbyterian Church — now the Trinity United Church — for the past 65 years.

Wib, as he is familiarly known, became indoctrinated into the singing life when about 12 years old by Prof. Hugh F. Laughlin, who was director of music in the public schools and also choir director of the First Presbyterian Church.

His faithful devotion to the church choir was given recognition when he was presented with a presidential tankard by the Cardale Choir.

Other past singing commitments of his include the Apollo Male Chorus, which had W. A. MacDonald as director, Mrs. J. F. Calhoun, organist, and Miss Jessie Hall, pianist, and the Ceramic City Male Chorus, with Anthony Caputo, director.

NEWMAN ALSO sang with "The Four Vagabonds" who include William Stevenson, Harold Driggs and Raymond Alton, with Edith Calhoun as directress and accompanist.

Miss Mildred Rose of 1322 Riverview St., has been singing in the choir of the First Church of Christ since 1913, very soon after the dedication of the church in May 12, 1912.

Mrs. Ella Gibson of 822 State St., who has been singing in the choir of the Second Baptist Church since 1922, will never forget the Sunday morning service when she was to have a solo and forgot the tune so just kept on speaking the words.

With 46 years to her credit, Mrs. May Rice of Sprucevale Rd. near Calcutta still sings with the 40-member choir of the First Church of the Nazarene recalling the performances at district church assemblies throughout the area along with radio and television appearances.

Quite a few years ago, the choir of the First United Methodist Church taped the production numbers for the Christmas cantata, and Mrs. Grace Bloor of 245 Pennsylvania Ave. suffered a bit of embarrassment when the recording was played for the group. Because she has such a strong voice, she could be heard well above the rest of the choir which could only be heard when Mrs. Bloor took a breath. She has been with the choir for 45 years.

ALTHOUGH JACK Eccleston's career in the choir of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church didn't begin until 1927 he was singing in 1902 in North Staffordshire, England. He recalls the local choir's performance over radio station KDKA which was broadcast short-wave throughout the world. Another stand-out event was when 134 members performed at the Chicago World's Fair in 1933.

Mrs. Edythe Kittridge of 1503 Wyoming Ave. considers singing in the choir as part of family life, and her children literally grew up in the choir loft because they were taken to rehearsals. She has been in the choir of the First Baptist Church for 42 years.

A soloist for many of the 41 years she has been singing in a choir, Mrs. Laura Ruth Clark of 2144 Harvey Ave. remembers many a time when she had to ad lib lyrics when she forgot the words. She still sings with the group from the Grace United, the former Second Presbyterian Church of East End.

MR. AND MRS. James O'Reilly of 307 W. 5th St., are an important part of the parish life of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, where they serve as soloist and organist. Jim has been playing the organ since 1943.

They recall now with amusement an incident which they caused quite a bit of consternation when the pipe organ was operated by water pressure. When Peggy sat down to play, the keys started to move on their own like a player piano and with a shrill sound. The hydraulic pressure had built up, causing the "performance."

Mrs. Margaret Hall of 2010 Michigan Ave., who has been singing for 36 years with the choir of the Boyce Methodist Church, remembers many last-minute solo replacements for various cantatas when throat and voice problems developed suddenly.

A well-known community soloist, Mrs. Barbara Stevens of 529 Grant St., Newell, has sung for 35 years with the choir of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church. Because in 1933 there was no local radio station, it was quite a thrill to sing over KDKA in Pittsburgh.

CAREERS HERE TODAY, gone tomorrow? An education study center in London has issued warning to today's parents and their offspring that by the year 2000 there will be a total revolution in the types of jobs available. Students are cautioned to plan now for the changes. The study center makes several predictions for Britons: One out of five will be employed professionally (medicine, science, teaching, etc.) representing 2½ times as many as at present; fewer than one in 10 will hold clerical jobs, a 25 per cent decline; three of five will be manual laborers, a drop of almost 13 per cent; business executives will hold at 10 per cent. Further advice . . . since computers will take over routine office work, more females should consider professional careers. Emotional and educational flexibility is the key so one can readily change careers midstream. Those geared for only one career may be among the permanently unemployed in light of increased technological advances.

"HAVE A GOOD DAY": A delightful and unpretentious way of saying goodbye. The phrase is strangely, but surely spreading from coast to coast. Gas stations attendants, cab drivers, drive-in waitresses seemed to germinate it. Now teens are grabbing the idea and it is sure to grow. Sort of a nice way to "cut."

Outdoor Notes

A word of caution is in order at this time of year especially to anyone taking advantage of the first warm days to get out of that house or office they've been cooped up in the past few months.

Since precipitation has been ranging below normal, the outdoor surroundings are like a tinder box and will ignite with the help of the littlest spark.

Campers of course should heed the well-known rule of dousing their fires and making sure they are out, but more care should be taken by the motorist. With the balmy weather season making its debut, there's a great tendency to roll down the windows and let the breeze whip through the car. Too often, however, there's a greater tendency to flip a lighted cigarette out the window without a second, or even a first thought, of what the aftermath could be. So use your ashtray, that's what it's for.

SPRINGTIME is also cleanup time and cleanup time means burning debris. Too often, and with disastrous results, the rules for burning aren't heeded. There is no burning allowed within the city limits. In Liverpool Township, burning is permitted all year long, but a special permit is required for the months of March, April, May, October and November.

In cases where an individual is unable to burn debris during the specified hours, special permission may be obtained from the forest fire warden. Many brush fires have already been reported in the area and a continued lack of precipitation could create a dangerous situation. A little heeding of the rules could prevent a lot of trouble and heartaches for a lot of people.

WITH THE SEEMINGLY present tendency to obliterate our land with pollution of all kinds, everyone would do well to watch the "21st Century" tomorrow night. The program will feature the last of a two-part episode entitled "What Are We Doing To Our World." Last week's program brought out some enlightening facts and this week's show promises to do the same. The two shows provide a survey of man's chaotic disruption of his land.

This Sunday's topics will include a manmade drought which is threatening Florida's Everglades and its wildlife with extinction. Also discussed are the barren expanse which result when land has been stripped of its protective forests. The possible damaging effects of Egypt's Aswan Dam and the threat of another American Dust Bowl.

AT 4 P.M. SUNDAY a repeat of a show seen Monday evening will also deal with the problem of our dying land. Entitled "These Young Americans In Search Of Survival," one of its focal points is a 26-year-old recreational development specialist concerned with the disappearance of America's wilderness. His purpose is to have undeveloped lands put to their best use with minimum damage to wild beauty.

A 30-year-old woman concerned with the mounting water pollution problem is centered on in another segment of the program. Many lakes and rivers have already fallen to water pollution and now the oceans are being threatened.

All you have to do is look around to see why these two shows have picked this particular subject to center on. Many good programs have been started to help eradicate some of these problems, but a lot more need to be started. It's a big job and it will take big money to do it. Whatever the cost, it won't be too much considering what the final goal is.

MESSAGE GETTING THROUGH. A "heart safety" message, which Heart Associations have been beaming at hunters for the past several years must be getting through to the nimrods.

For several years Heart Associations across the country have been advising hunters on the rules for heart safety and if figures are any criteria the program must be paying off.

Colorado, which for years had numbered five to ten heart attacks each year during the big game hunting season, last year reported only one such fatality.

Since there is a new crop of hunters every year joining the old timers the Heart Association repeats its message every year.

The Columbian County unit advises to get in condition before you take off on your hunting trip. If you have a history of heart or circulatory disease a check-up by your doctor is a must. He can advise you on steps to take to physically condition yourself and limitations you should observe.

Advice is to wear lightweight but warm clothing.

Know simple first aid rules.

Be moderate in eating and drinking. Drinking does not mix with either driving or hunting.

The hunter with a known heart condition should never hunt alone. One member of the party at least should know of your condition, what medicine you take, how the medicine is taken and in what pocket it is carried.

If your hunting area is at a higher altitude than that to which you are accustomed go to your camp a few days early to help your heart and lungs adjust to the lower oxygen content of the air.

Get a good night's sleep before you start your hunt.

Don't get exhausted. Rest as often and as long as necessary.

If you get your game wait for help to drag it out. Dragging a deer out of the brush is hard work.

Don't become a cardiac statistic and give hunting a bad name. Take as good care of your heart as you do your gun. The association has a free leaflet on Hearts and Hunting available upon request.

"Looks like the backstroke to me, sir."

This old joke brings to mind some of the legal aspects with what are termed foreign objects which are some times found in foods.

You'd be angry if a restaurant served you soup that had a fly in it. Few recipes call for such ingredients, so the fly would be termed a foreign object.

Other foreign objects could include broken glass, a bottle cap and some bones.

The general test of whether an object you find in your food is truly "foreign" is whether the object is naturally found there, or if it is supposed to be there.

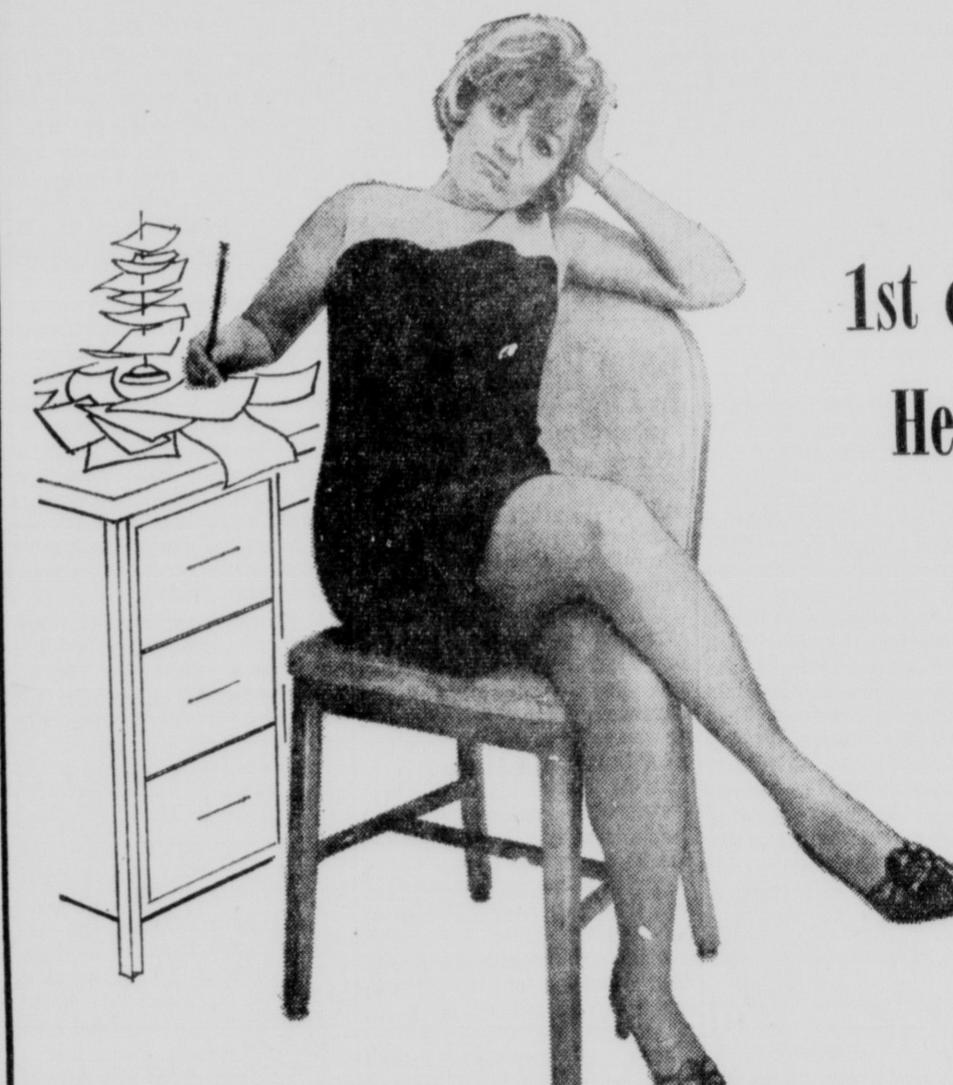

IF YOU SHOULD dip into certain types of gumbo, you might come up with a lobster claw. Biting down on this might break a tooth. However, this ingredient is in the recipe and you'd be taking your chances when you ate the gumbo.

When crunching down on a mouthful of popcorn you expect — but are generally disappointed — if it contains an unpopped kernel. Normally, you expect to find such kernels in the popcorn box, so such a kernel would not generally be classed as a foreign object.

However, if you buy a can of boned chicken, you should not expect to find any bones in it. A bone in a product which is supposed to be boneless would normally be a foreign object — you didn't expect to find it there. You might be able to collect damages if the bone injured you.

Grid Owners To Study New Realignment

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The 26 club owners of the American and National Football Leagues scattered for home today, thoughts of 4-4-5 dancing in their heads.

They also were thinking of April in New York, because that's when and most likely where they'll start negotiating again on realignment for 1970.

The leagues recessed their winter meetings Friday night after making some progress in five days of separate and joint sessions but not nearly enough to determine the form pro football will take after this coming season.

The key to a solution lies in the 4-4-5 concept—divisions of those numbers of teams in two 13-team conferences. Using this philosophy, which the AFL likes but which the NFL is cool about, realignment could be achieved in one of two ways:

1. Move two or three NFL teams into the AFL. If two, divide the 12-team AFL into three units of four and the 14-team NFL into two fives and a four. If three, divide the resulting 13-team conferences into divisions of four, four and five. Each of the NFL teams would go into different NFL-AFL divisions.

2. Take the two four-team divisions in the NFL's Western Conference and place them with the AFL's five-team Eastern Division, and place the two four-team divisions of the NFL's Eastern Conference with the AFL's five-team Western Division.

'Pinky' Higgins Dies In Hospital

DALLAS (AP) — Former Boston Red Sox Manager Michael "Pinky" Higgins, American League Manager of the Year in 1955, is dead at the age of 59.

A spokesman at St. Paul's Hospital said Higgins died Friday afternoon shortly after he was admitted to the emergency room with a heart ailment.

Higgins' death came only two days after he had been released from prison at Francisville, La., where he served two months of a four-year term on a negligent homicide charge.

Higgins pleaded guilty to a charge that his automobile killed a highway worker in 1968. Police said Higgins was driving while intoxicated.

Under Louisiana law, a first offender may be considered for parole at any time if his sentence is less than five years.

Higgins broke into the major leagues in 1930 with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Frazier's Title Hopes Ended By 6-11 McMillen

HARRISBURG (AP) — The PIAA's Class B basketball playoffs turned out to be just another tall story... a story named Tom McMillen.

McMillen, Mansfield's brilliant 6-foot-11 center, blocked a dozen shots, grabbed 24 rebounds and stuck in 32 points to lead the Tigers to a 65-43 victory over Frazier Friday night for their first state title.

The game capped a championship doubleheader before a screaming crowd of 6,489 at the State Farm Show Arena.

In the opener, Jim Wallace scored 35 points to lead Elk Lake over Laurel Valley 71-52 for the state Class C crown.

The do-everything McMillen thwarted Frazier's freeze-ball tactics with his aggressive defensive play. He clogged up the key, making it almost impossible for Frazier to get within close scoring range, and intimidated the Commodores' shooters all over the floor.

Columbus Just Makes It, 64-63; Canton Romps

ing its 47-game winning streak shattered. Bold Libby, trailing by one point with 34 seconds left, waited for a good shot before Carl Ham fired with nine seconds to play. He missed.

But the Cowboys got the rebound and Dexter Holloway tried a jumper with three seconds to go. It hung on the rim for what seemed like an eternity and then dropped off into the waiting arms of Ed Ratleff.

It was an appropriate retrieve for the 6-foot-6 East star, whose 24 points on 12 baskets in 19 tries paced the winners. But little (6-0) Dwight Lamar, who collected 17, came up with the key points.

TEAMMATE Larry Walker made a key steal at midcourt and fed² to the driving Lamar who sank his basket and was fouled with 1:25 to go. His free throw, for a three-point play, wiped away a 62-61 Toledo advantage and gave East a 64-62 edge.

It held up as Toledo's Abe Steward made one of two free throws with 49 seconds remaining and then the Cowboys missed their final two flings.

It was a bitter pill for Coach Burt Spice's Libby crew, which led a 15-point fourth quarter lead in 1966 on the way to losing the state title to Dayton Chaminade, 55-52.

Steward capped scoring honors with 25 while teammate Ed Trail netted 18. But it was all in vain for the state's fourth ranked quintet which failed to make a substitution the entire game.

CANTON, paced by Player of the Year Nick Weatherspoon, had too much of everything and overpowered Chaminade. The 6-7 Weatherspoon, hitting 12 of 18 from the floor and 4 of 4 from the charity stripe for 28 points, had strong support from Glenn Burt, Ralph Owens and Stan Rubin, who scored 16, 12 and 11, respectively. Dayton had one man in double figures, Dan Gerhard, who totaled 11.

Now East, riding a 48-game winning string, 24 this season, and winners of 69 of 70, must get by the slick Bulldogs, who themselves have won 23 straight after a early season loss to Farrell, Pa.

Bridgeport, Arcanum Duel For 'A' Crown

Bridgeport, 25-1, got seven clutch free throws from Paul DaRe to ward off fast closing Fort Recovery. The Bulldogs held a 41-30 halftime advantage but Ken Heiby, scoring 24 despite an attack of asthma, led the late Fort Recovery charge that had Bridgeport hanging on the ropes.

But DaRe, who led the Bulldogs with 21, came through when needed most with his bulseye free throws.

Arcanum, 24-2, bolted out to a 10-0 lead over smaller Portsmouth Clay and built a 40-28 bulge at halftime.

The 6-6 Gray connected on an amazing 16 of 18 field goals and 13 of 16 from the free throw line for his 45 points. That broke two records and equalled a third.

When Gray scored with 31 seconds remaining, he broke the record of 43 points set by Mike Allen of New Lexington St. Alloysius against Westmont in 1954. His 16 field goals also cracked Allen's mark of 15 in the same game. But Gray, fouled on his final basket, missed a free throw that would have given him 14, one more than Allen scored 15 years ago.

The Darke County school was bidding for its second crown, having won in 1956. Arcanum also reached the finals in 1967 but lost to Strausburg. For Bridgeport, it was a first shot at the title and the fans should get their money's worth.

A total of 13,922 watched the Double-A twinbill while 13,865 saw the Class A doubleheader.

Semi-Final Game Had Championship Flavor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coaches Bob Hart of Columbus East and Burt Spice of Toledo Libby both seem to agree that Friday night's hectic state semifinals won by the vaulted Tigers 64-63, had the flavor of an Ohio Class AA championship game.

Spice, shocked at the setback, asked: "Why didn't they call a foul when (Carl) Ham took that hook shot? He got hit on the arm. You could hear the slap."

"We did a good job of forcing them into the shots that they didn't want to take," said Hart in reviewing the dramatic finish. "We denied (Abe) Steward and (Ed) Trail."

The quick Cowboys, who did what of landing a college coaching job.

"That one (Holloway's shot) will haunt me," Hart mused. "I can still see it sitting on the rim. This really wasn't one of our better games. Libby was the reason why. They are good."

"There's no comparison between us and East, as to the art of the game," said Spice.

"What kept us off stride was their natural ability. We try to run the smart stuff, not gunning it up there and hoping three big guys who can jump to the moon will stuff it in. This is the smartest team I've had. This is what makes coaches happy in defeat."

"We'll have to play much better than we did tonight to beat Canton McKinley," Hart warned.

"You know, Conner has a mild case of strep throat. If we would have lost, I wouldn't have brought this out."

Dayton Chaminade coach Jim Turvane, who saw his 1966 state champion Eagles absorb a sound 78-46 thumping from McKinley in Friday night's double-A opener, also sounded like he gives the edge to McKinley tonight.

'Pinky' Higgins Dies In Hospital

DALLAS (AP) — Former Boston Red Sox Manager Michael "Pinky" Higgins, American League Manager of the Year in 1955, is dead at the age of 59.

A spokesman at St. Paul's Hospital said Higgins died Friday afternoon shortly after he was admitted to the emergency room with a heart ailment.

Higgins' death came only two days after he had been released from prison at Frankfort, La., where he served two months of a four-year term on a negligent homicide charge.

Higgins pleaded guilty to a charge that his automobile killed a highway worker in 1968. Police said Higgins was driving while intoxicated.

Under Louisiana law, a first offender may be considered for parole at any time if his sentence is less than five years.

Higgins broke into the major leagues in 1930 with the Philadelphia Athletics.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Hollywood script writer couldn't have figured out a better way to wind up Ohio's high school basketball season.

No. 1 ranked Columbus East battles No. 2 Canton McKinley tonight (7:30 p.m.) in a show-down match to decide the Class AA championship.

In a 2 p.m. skirmish, seventh-ranked Bridgeport tangled with unranked Arcanum to settle the Class A title. Both games are rated tossups.

THE DRAMA unfurled in Friday's semifinal tests of the 47th state basketball tournament when defending champion East climaxed day-long action with a razor thin 64-63 decision over Toledo Libbey.

Earlier, McKinley completely outclassed Dayton Chaminade, 78-46, to reach the state finals for the fifth time. Canton has never won the title—East is bidding for its fourth crown.

In the small school competition, Bridgeport survived a second half comeback to edge Fort Recovery, 69-68, and Arcanum, behind Dave Gray's record scoring outburst of 45 points, sidelined Portsmouth Clay, 76-61.

Coach Bob Hart's East team came within an eyelash of seewiped away a 62-61 Toledo advantage and gave East a 64-62 edge.

It held up as Toledo's Abe Steward made one of two free throws with 49 seconds remaining and then the Cowboys missed their final two flings.

It was a bitter pill for Coach Burt Spice's Libbey crew, which blew a 15-point fourth quarter lead in 1966 on the way to losing the state title to Dayton Chaminade, 55-52.

Steward copped scoring honors with 25 while teammate Ed Trail netted 18. But it was all in vain for the state's fourth ranked quintet which failed to make a substitution the entire game.

TEAMMATE Larry Walker made a key steal at midcourt and fed to the driving Lamar who sank his basket and was fouled with 1:25 to go. His free throw, for a three-point play,

The 6-7 Weatherspoon, hitting

12 of 18 from the floor and 4 of 4 from the charity stripe for 28 points, had strong support from Glenn Burt, Ralph Owens and Stan Rubin, who scored 16, 12 and 11, respectively. Dayton had one man in double figures, Dan Gerhard who totaled 11.

Now East, riding a 48-game winning string, 24 this season, and winners of 69 of 70, must get by the slick Bulldogs, who themselves have won 23 straight after early season loss to Farrell, Pa.

Bridgeport, Arcanum Duel For 'A' Crown

Bridgeport, 25-1, got seven clutch free throws from Paul DaRe to ward off fast closing Fort Recovery. The Bulldogs held a 41-30 halftime advantage but Ken Heiby, scoring 24 despite an attack of asthma, led that had Bridgeport hanging on the ropes.

But DaRe, who led the Bulldogs with 21, came through when needed most with his bullethead free throws.

Arcanum, 24-2, bolted out to a 10-0 lead over smaller Portsmouth Clay and built a 40-28 bulge at halftime.

The 6-6 Gray continued on an amazing 16 of 18 field goals and 13 of 16 from the free throw line for his 45 points. That broke two records and equalled a third.

When Gray scored with 31 seconds remaining, he broke the record of 43 points set by Mike Allen of New Lexington St. Aloysius against Westmont in 1954. His 16 field goals also cracked Allen's mark of 15 in the same game. But Gray, fouled on his final basket, missed a free throw that would have given him 14, one more than Allen scored 15 years ago.

The Darke County school was bidding for its second crown, having won in 1956. Arcanum also reached the finals in 1967 but lost to Straubburg. For Bridgeport, it was a first shot at the title and the fans should get their money's worth.

A total of 13,922 watched the Double-A twinbill while 13,865 the late Fort Recovery charge saw the Class A doubleheader.

★ ★ ★ Semi-Final Game Had Championship Flavor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — hopes of landing a college coaching job.

"That one (Holloway's shot) will haunt me," Hart mused. "I can still see it sitting on the rim. This really wasn't one of our better games. Libbey was the reason why. They are good."

"There's no comparison between us and East, as to the art of the game," said Spice. "What kept us off stride was their natural ability. We try to run the smart stuff, not gunning it up there and hoping three big guys who can jump to the moon will stuff it in. This is the smartest team I've had. This is what makes coaches happy in defeat."

"We'll have to play much better than we did tonight to beat Canton McKinley," Hart warned. "You know, Conner has a mild case of strep throat. If we would have lost, I wouldn't have brought this out."

Denton Chaminade coach Jim Turvane, who saw his 1966 state champion Eagles absorb a sound 78-46 thumping from McKinley in Friday night's double-A opener, also sounded like he gives the edge to McKinley tonight.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — John Wooden, the UCLA basketball coach, was asked to evaluate the ability of Lew Alcindor against all the college players he has seen in a career spanning more than three decades.

Wooden smiled in that peculiarly shy, yet sly way he has, his blue eyes twinkling and he slowly held up one finger.

"Does that answer your question?" he asked.

Alcindor, the 7-foot-1½ giant who has, for the last three seasons, dominated the game as perhaps no other player in history, closed out his college career today, leading UCLA against powerful Purdue in the national championship game.

And make no mistake about it, he was the dominant factor as the Bruins sought an unprecedented third consecutive national title.

"He's just awe-inspiring," Purdue Coach George King said. "My big guys saw him against Drake in the semifinals and turned green."

They were 28-1 for the season and ranked first in the nation, while Purdue carried the No. 6 ranking and a 23-4 mark into the showdown at 4:15 p.m., EST.

Fourth-ranked North Carolina, 27-4, and No. 11 Drake, 25, played earlier for third place.

Asked if Alcindor were under unusual pressure as he sought a third championship and how he was reacting, Wooden replied:

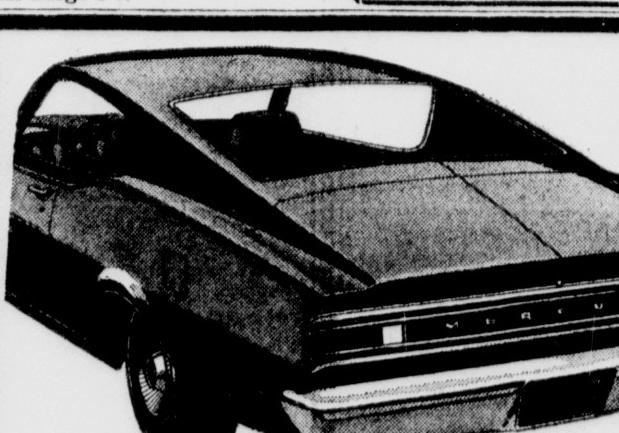

"He is under the greatest pressure in the history of college basketball. No player was ever under the pressure experienced by Lewis Alcindor. I'm amazed that he has stood up as well as he has."

Purdue, rated by many as the team best equipped to beat the Bruins, went after UCLA and Alcindor with excellent outside shooting, good rebounding, a tough, tenacious defense and great speed.

The Boilermakers' principal weapons were All-American Rick Mount and his backcourt mate, Bill Keller. They combined for 56 points in a 92-65 semifinal rout of North Carolina.

"If we're to beat UCLA," King said, "we'll have to shoot first and shoot well. Perimeter shooting will be the key to it, because the big guy takes away everything else."

Kuhn Delivers Ruling In Clendenon's Case

NEW YORK (AP) — The controversy over Donn Clendenon involving the Montreal Expos and the Houston Astros hasn't ended, even though Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn has stepped into the case.

The fuss began in January after the Astros traded Rusty Staub to Montreal for Clendenon and Jesus Alou followed by Clendenon's announcement that he was retiring from baseball to enter business in Atlanta.

Kuhn ruled Friday that Clendenon's contract reverted to Montreal and ordered the Expos to place him on the voluntary retired list by March 31 unless they can persuade him to play again.

Kuhn also upheld the Staub-Alou swap and told the clubs to reach an agreement on a replacement for Clendenon by March 26. If they do not, Kuhn said, he will hold a hearing March 27 to determine a fair settlement.

Tony Horton's sacrifice fly and a home run by Duke Sims gave Cleveland two runs in the sixth and gained Hamilton the victory. Hamilton was touched for just one hit in four innings.

Los Angeles snapped the six-game winning streak of the New York Yankees 9-0 in a night game and St. Louis had ended the five-game streak of the New York Mets 5-3.

Wes Parker's two-run homer in the second gave the Dodgers all the runs they needed as Don Drysdale, Bob Darwin and Jim McGraw stepped in to pitch.

McDowell's concentration apparently is doing fine. He did not issue a pass in the five innings he worked against the Angels, while yielding three hits and striking out only one.

Barbara Jo Continues Unbeaten At Waterford

Barbara Jo Rubin continued her mastery of Waterford Park Friday night, but after a double victory, the pig-tailed jockey admitted she's more comfortable riding than handicapping.

"It really went much better than I expected," said Miss Rubin after extending her unbeaten streak at the West Virginia track to four with victories in the fifth and featured ninth races.

"To be perfectly honest," she said, "I found a couple of horses I thought had a much better chance of winning."

The 3,800 Waterford fans sent her mounts off as favorites.

The 19-year-old jockey got an enthusiastic reception when she returned to the winner's circle aboard One Tickle in the fifth and Barton's Mistake in the feature. One Tickle returned $3.80, $3.20 and $2.90 and Barton's Mistake $3.40, $2.60 and $2.20.

It was the second double victory night for Miss Rubin. She won twice March 8 and is scheduled for two more rides Saturday night. One of her mounts, Brandy's Play, has won 19 at Waterford.

Miss Rubin now has won a total of nine races at American tracks. She has rode two winners each at Aqueduct and Charles Town and one at Pimlico.

Resolutions Filed On Ballot Places Of School Levies

Resolutions enacted by the Board of Education Monday night were filed Friday with the County Election Board, seeking ballot places for a vote at the May 6 primaries on renewal of 1-cent and 1-mill levies to provide funds for current expenses.

If approved, both levies would be collected for the first time in the tax year 1970, which is the calendar year 1971. As required by law, the levies would be in effect for a continuing period of time.

The vote on the levies actually will be a special election held on the same date as the primaries. Because of the special election, nine precinct polling places will be open in Liverpol and St. Clair Townships as they are part of the school district.

The school board will be billed for the entire cost of the balloting in the nine township precincts. East Liverpool's 34 precincts comprise the balance of the school district. Those polling places already were scheduled to function because of the municipal primaries.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Clair Looman, who passed away two years ago today, March 21, 1967. When evening shades are falling, And we sit here all alone, To our hearts there comes a longing, If you could find her home again, home is where she is. And so come, And have come, to forget. But time so far has only rewarded. How much we miss you yet. Although your soul's at rest, And from care and pain; it would seem like heaven if we had you home again. Sadly missed by wife Jessie.

Junior Editors Quiz on LIGHT BULB

QUESTION: What happens inside an incandescent light bulb?

ANSWER: Inside an incandescent bulb is a little pedestal of glass extending up into a rod with a button on top. A support wire leads up from this. There are two other kinds of wire inside. The inner leads bring the electric current up one side and down the other. The delicate filament connects the lead wires at the top. This last is made of tungsten wire and tries to resist the passage of the current. It is this resistance of the filament which heats it and makes it incandescent — meaning that it glows and gives off light. The air inside an electric light bulb (except for a tiny fraction) must be removed before the bulb is sealed. Otherwise, the oxygen in the air would unite with the glowing filament and burn it, making the light go out. That is why a bulb, which has been giving light, will suddenly go dark when the glass is broken. Although air is taken out of light bulbs, nitrogen and argon gas are put in. These prevent the filament from evaporating.

the teachers may take two, three or even four days off if no decision is reached. He said it will be on a day-to-day basis.

Oliver said that at the board meeting last night he asked members to reconsider the action taken Monday which left football coach Ernest Grekis and basketball coach Don Kaisner without contracts for the next term.

A motion by one board member died for lack of a second.

Oliver added that he had intended to give the board two sealed envelopes, each written by the coaches, if it took action to reconsider the move. But, he said, the envelopes, unopened, remain in his possession. He said he does not know what the two letters contain.

Oliver said it is his belief that the board will meet, perhaps Sunday afternoon, in an attempt to resolve the issue. He said, "They'll try to resolve it—if they're rational." He said the Sunday meeting might include the teachers.

The board last night explained its policy that includes a grievance committee which must have written authority from the people involved before considering any complaint.

"The board will entertain any grievances filed in compliance with the established policy," a spokesman for the members said.

Oliver said that at the board meeting last night he asked members to reconsider the action taken Monday which left football coach Ernest Grekis and basketball coach Don Kaisen without contracts for the next term.

A motion by one board member died for lack of a second. Oliver added that he had intended to give the board two sealed envelopes, each written by the coaches, if it took action to reconsider the move. But, he said, the envelopes, unopened, remain in his possession. He said he does not know what the two letters contain.

Oliver said it is his belief that the board will meet, perhaps Sunday afternoon, in an attempt to resolve the issue. He said, "They'll try to resolve it if they're rational." He said the Sunday meeting might include the teachers.

The board last night explained its policy that includes a grievance committee which must have written authority from the people involved before considering any complaint.

"The board will entertain any grievances filed in compliance with the established policy," a spokesman for the members said.
